GUIDELINES FOR DIGITENS CONTRIBUTORS

GENERAL GUIDELINES

- All work should be original and not currently published elsewhere
- Entries can be written in English or in French
- Entries should be between 2000 and 2500 words.
- The topic should be connected to sociability in the abstract and within the first paragraph - this is the key focus.
- Primary and secondary materials should be properly referenced.
- Factual information should be included provided it is appropriately linked with the theme of sociability.
- Where relevant, entries may wish to include contemporary details (for example, film adaptations, restoration of buildings or places people can visit, etc).
- All entries should include at least ONE image and reference for that image.
- The entry should also include a reference to a text (or an illustration), in relation to the topic discussed in the entry, that could be part of the anthology. Please specify the exact references of the document and the page numbers of the extract of the text.
- We recommend the inclusion of a further reading paragraph to acknowledge the state of the art and encourage references to current research debates.
- Each entry can include a limited number of footnotes that should be kept short.

SPECIFIC GUIDELINES

People:

- Biographic material should be included through the lens of sociability
- For key relationships (friends, relatives, social circles etc) significant to the entry, ensure details are kept minimal.
- Where necessary, it is possible to include a list of the individual's social circles

Places and Institutions:

- Entries on Places and Institutions should remain focused on their role and development into areas of sociability.
- Locations and dates should be included
- Architectural information can be included where appropriate

Practices:

- Awareness of the practice's link to sociability should be made explicit (preferably at the beginning of the entry).
- Include appropriate time frames where applicable
- Use examples that might help illustrate the practice

Objects:

- The focus should remain on the object's use in sociability
- Practical details such as commerce, availability, popularity, specific skills for making said object, influences, importation, advertisement, workshop location, businesses etc, should be included (where appropriate) as a point of interest.

Concepts

- Highlight the connection between the concept and eighteenth-century sociability
- When relevant, use practical examples to complement theoretical development
- Include appropriate time frames
